

Primary Care Practice Assistance, Te Mahi Awhina Tuatahi certificate programme

The purpose of the presentation is to provide a brief history of the journey that Wintec has taken, and continues to take, to educate PCPAs. The principle that underpins the online course is to provide recognition of skills and knowledge to enable participants to provide administrative and clinic support under broad direction and delegation from a regulated health professional.

An overview of the course will be addressed as well as some special features that are embedded in the course; for example it is an online course so several factors are crucial to maintain student connection to learning, as well as the need for pastoral care.
